

ABSTRACT

The present invention relates to methods and compositions for wound healing, and in particular, methods and compositions to promote and enhance wound healing. In particular, the present invention provides MMP derived peptides for use in enhancing 5 wound healing.